

How to Apply for Leave

Early booking of leave is recommended, especially at popular times such as school holidays. Leave can be requested up to a year in advance of the current month, and is applied for on the Allocations website by selecting, “My Leave”:

For each date, the first letter of your shift (or a hyphen indicating a day off) is shown. Underneath, there are one or two coloured rectangles. To apply to take leave on a day, click on a green or brown rectangle. Where there are two lines, the top line refers to days and the bottom line refers to nights. If your rota or indicative pattern shows a day, click on the top line. If your rota or indicative pattern shows a night, click on the lower line.

It's not necessary to click on days that are already days off. We will assume that your days off directly adjacent to, and surrounded by, leave requests are part of your leave request. If the leave is approved, then these days off will also be locked off, and you will not be expected to work.

If the rectangle is green, it means that leave is available on that day. When you click it, it will turn yellow. That means that your leave on that day is guaranteed, and you can proceed to make arrangements on that basis. You will also receive an email from the office in due course, confirming that your leave has been authorised. You will then be able to see it on your “Leave from Allocate” tab:

If the rectangle is brown, it means that all the guaranteed slots have been given to other people already. You can still click on this day, and this will put you on the waiting list. The rectangle will turn grey. It is important to remember that this leave is not yet available to you, and may never be. You can check your position in the queue by looking at the “Leave by Week” view:

If the days on and off have been set, the date will turn light blue. It is still possible to apply for Short Notice Leave, but this will not be guaranteed, and depends entirely on operational considerations. To apply for Short Notice Leave, click on the day in the same way as outlined above. The day will appear turquoise on your view (see below), and also on the “Leave by Week” view, and an email will be sent to the Office, letting them know about your request. They will get back to you either way. You may want also to consider looking into personal swaps at this point.

How to Delete or Cancel Leave

Please make sure you remove any requests for leave, including Short Notice Leave, if you decide that you no longer want the time off. This allows others to make leave requests on those days instead, and also makes sure that you have enough leave requests for yourself to use on other days.

Before the confirmation email has been sent to you, you can delete your leave request yourself by clicking on the request and selecting "Delete". If you cancel leave and then decide to rebook it for the same leave date, you will lose your place in the queue.

After the confirmation email has been sent to you, you will need to speak with the office to hand back your leave.

Before the leave date becomes light blue (Short Notice Leave), your cancellation will be accepted. Once the leave date is in the light blue period, cancellation is subject to operational requirements and may not be accepted. In addition, if it is accepted during the "Short Notice" period, there may need to be changes to your allocations pattern in order to find shifts for you to work instead of being on leave.
